

Very few politicians, or political parties believe in a cause. A cause which encompasses greater-genuine social concern,